BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
 Be not conformed to this world.

Romans 12:2.

If we are right and the world wrong we should try to transform ourselves and the world to a pattern of goodness.

"What Else Is New?"

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND
 By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
 GOP Cashes In On President
 Tubman's Visit; Mohammed
 Ali Lost In Rush To Sway Negro Vote; Dewey Attempts To Detour Tubman Away From Roosevelt's Grave.

WASHINGTON. — A significant backstage hassle has developed over the right to entertain—and be photographed with—William V. S. Tubman, Negro president of the Negro Republic of Liberia.

Climax of the hassle is an invitation to President Tubman from Governor Dewey calculated to keep him away from Hyde Park and the laying of a wreath on Roosevelt's tomb. As of this writing, pleased but harried President Tubman doesn't quite know what to do.

A Republican president brought him to the U. S. A., so he feels he has to bow to the wishes of his hosts. On the other hand, the late President Roosevelt is a great hero in Liberia—in fact, the only president of the United States to visit Liberia. So President Tubman's advisers are suggesting that he had best go to Roosevelt's tomb at Hyde Park even if it does lose some Negro votes to the Republicans on November 2.

Meanwhile, the rush to welcome and be photographed with the president of Liberia has been such that the entourage of Mohammed Ali, prime minister of Pakistan, are not at all happy.

Mohammed Ali, arriving in Washington a few days ahead of President Tubman, was not greeted by Eisenhower and got nowhere near the same enthusiastic attention.

This does not go down particularly well with our strongest ally in the Middle East. The U. S. A. is spending up to about $100,000,000 on arms, food and other aid to Pakistan in order to insure the Russian-Indian-Pakistan border against Communist penetration. A strong Pakistan, we hope, will offset the neutral Nehru and the uncertain policies of Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia.

FEW MOHAMMEDAN VOTES
 That's why the prime minister of Pakistan can't quite understand the attention showered on a relatively obscure president from a relatively obscure country in Africa. What he doesn't realize, of course, is that the big White House glad-hand extended to President Tubman right now means votes. There are not many Mohammedans voting in this country, and there are a lot of colored folks.

Mohammed Ali, of course, is too polite to say anything about this, but his aides have complained privately. They note that where as Ike did not come back from Denver in time to see their prime minister, both Vice President Nixon and Secretary Dulles rushed to the Washington airport to greet Tubman while Eisenhower stood in the White House as the dusky dignitary from Liberia got the full 21-gun salute.

Moreover, the date of Tubman's arrival to the U. S. was changed three times so that Ike could be present to welcome him—from the original Oct. 20, to Oct. 13, to the final, Oct. 18—changes caused by Ike's last-minute plans for political speeches in Denver and Indianapolis.

Note 1 — What the Pakistanis don't realize is that things have changed in the U. S. A. The last time a Republican president—Calvin Coolidge—received a Negro president, Louis Borno of Haiti, the U. S. Marine Corp band in Port Au Prince played "Bye-Bye Black Bird" as he departed; while Lieut. William O'Connor, son of a New York policeman and with a certain aversion to gentlemen of color, deliberately failed to fire the required 21-gun salute from Governors Island as President Borno steamed proudly up the bay.

Note 2 — Things have also changed regarding Liberia. The last Republican secretary of state, Henry L. Stimson, sent the most scorching note of his entire career to President King of Liberia, castigating him for selling his fellow blacks into slave labor to the Firestone Rubber company, this a republic founded by ex-slaves to pioneer Negro freedom!

LIBERIAN MERRY-GO-ROUND

Official reason for President Tubman's visit to the U. S. is to get a $4,000,000 aid program extended. (I predict he would have gotten it without coming.) He's also up for re-election to a third term, after being in office 11 years. . . . Tubman, a realist, is under no delusion regarding his

By Galbraith

Apparently to spike it, he sent an official invitation to President Tubman to accompany him on a ceremonial tour of New York City. Perhaps he had heard that Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., now a candidate for attorney general of New York, would be at Hyde Park.

Long, Short, Tall—Take It in Stride

CHICAGO. — Long, short, or tall—you can put your height to advantage in social situations.

Dr. John E. Eichenlaub, Ackley, Iowa, says there's no reason why anyone should feel self-conscious about his height.

"Let your size help you to genuine personality and respect," Eichenlaub advised in Today's Health, a publication of the American Medical Association.

"When we look at a big man, we look up to him—if he simply meets our idea of quality in his dress and manner, we find him impressive."

"After you've settled into a chair beside a medium-sized man, you feel more at ease and more comfortable with him than with someone at either end of the size scale."

"A small man can argue with keenness without giving offense. He can easily win sympathy and support by simply remaining modest."

Perfume manufacturers once sent their concoctions to sea to let ship motion thoroughly blend the ingredients. Even now perfume mixtures are sometimes placed in bottles strapped to turntables rocked as if by ocean waves.

"You butchers would get a lot of credit if you'd start the trend back to normalcy by cutting the price of wieners!"

HOLLYWOOD—(NEA)—Behind the Screens: Cole Porter's contract with MGM for "The Cole Porter Cavalcade" gives the studio the right to portray the composer in the film.

Isn't it about time Porter played Porter? He's been impersonated by Cary Grant in "Night and Day" and Ron Randall in "Kiss Me Kate."

A couple of more impersonations in the movies and even Cole Porter won't know what he looks like.

Tyrone Power is saying NO to Fox's entreaties to sign aboard for more films after his final stint in "Untamed." It stems from Ty's unhappiness of a few years back when the studio wasn't sure he was worth the big moolah.

British critics still simmering about Hollywood stars taking the crumpets from the mouths of English emoters, let Jeanne Crain and Dana Andrews have it between the orbits for "Duel in the Jungle," a joint Anglo-American flicker.

Explanation for the name "Biff Towne," billed as a prize fighter in the big screen "Dragonet." Jack Webb's manager is BIFF Rogers and the girl friend is Dorothy TOWNE. A private gag.

Despite objections by operatic star Marjorie Lawrence to the use of another singing voice in her film biography, "Interrupted Melody," MGM is starting the Eleanor Parker-Glenn Ford co-star. Not too long ago Marjorie threatened an injunction to halt the film. MGM insists the studio is within its contract rights and has assured Marjorie that she will be "pleased and happy" with the picture.

Postcard from Ed Gardner in Oslo:

"There is an old custom here. As the boat leaves, you throw a jellyfish in the water. If it floats to shore it means you will someday return to Beverly Hills and a hot bath."

Murmur from a table companion:

"Honey, you can. After all, this is Hollywood."

The Basic Idea Behind the All-New 1955 PONTIAC

On Display October 29 and 30

ABOUT 30 years ago General Motors Corporation presented to America a new car called Pontiac. This new car was the direct result of a very specific idea.

The idea was this: to create a car which took its style, its engineering principles and its features from the very best and most expensive in America—and to build these into a car priced just above the very lowest!

Naturally, such an idea produced a wonderful and highly popular car—a car which millions of satisfied owners have driven with outstanding pride and pleasure.

Now, nearly three decades later, an entirely new Pontiac has been created for 1955—a car completely new from the ground up!

One thing, however, about the 1955 Pontiac remains unchanged—its basic idea—to offer the American public the very finest car that can possibly be built to sell at a price within easy reach of any new-car buyer.

When you see the new Pontiac on Friday or Saturday—Oct. 29 or 30—you will be immediately impressed by its remarkable new styling. No other car in the world looks like this new Pontiac!

When you drive it you will be astonished at its performance. For the 1955 Pontiac introduces the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8, an all-new engine that has already been proved in more than 3 million test miles!

When you price the new Pontiac you will come face to face with the basic Pontiac idea—you will be agreeably surprised that so much car, so much sparkling newness, so much luxury, so much downright goodness can be priced so near the very lowest.

We cordially invite you to come in on Friday or Saturday and see for yourself what a superb all-new General Motors masterpiece has been created to carry the wonderful name "Pontiac" for 1955.

State Department
Denies Charges
Swiatlo an Agent

WASHINGTON — State Department officials today flatly denied Poland's charge that Josef Swiatlo, former Polish secret police official who jailed American citizen Hermann Field, was an American agent.

Officials said Poland leveled the charge in an attempt to shift to Swiatlo the blame that properly falls on the Polish government. Field disappeared in Warsaw in 1949 while searching for his missing brother, Noe. Swiatlo, who broke with communism and fled to refuge in the West last December, revealed at a news conference here last month that he had arrested Hermann Field while carrying out his duties as a Polish police official.

The State Department, meantime, said it had no official information on Hermann Field's present whereabouts but hoped to get some word on him during the day.

British Workers Continue Strike

LONDON — More than 44,000 dockworkers closed ranks today and vowed to continue a strike which has snarled the nation's ports and threatened the British economy.

British Prime Minister Winston Churchill summoned his Cabinet to meet tonight to decide whether to risk spreading the walkout by sending troops to handle vital food-stuff.

The only crack in the solid front of the dockers was the return to work today of 731 of London's "permanent" dockers who work for a weekly salary rather than by the day. A scattering few dock workers returned to their jobs at Liverpool.

Mrs. Ralph Horning Sr. suffered a heart attack at her apartment, South Main and Lincoln, shortly before noon today and was taken by ambulance to the Lightner hospital.

The meeting opened at 9 a. m. with Mass at St. Elizabeth church and the general session was held at St. Teresa Academy auditorium. The address of welcome was given by Rev. Arthur Goldammer, chaplain, with response by John T. Fourie, Diocesan moderator. Following the business meeting a luncheon was held at noon and the principal speakers at the afternoon session were Rev. Charles Helmings, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of St. Louis, who spoke on "Consecration to Mary," and the Most Rev. Albert R. Zurowski, Bishop of Belleville, with his annual message to the D.C.C.W.

The meeting closed at 3 p. m. with benediction at St. Elizabeth church.

Presbyterian Fidelis Class Elects New Officers

The Fidelis class of the First Presbyterian church met Tuesday evening with Mrs. Verner Joyner.

The meeting was opened with the devotion, "Secret Prayer," taken from Luke 22:39-43, presented by Mrs. Walter Coulter. Roll call was answered by naming a character of the New Testament.

The nominating committee reported the following officers: President, Mrs. Verner Joyner; first vice president, Mrs. Edith Morrison; secretary, Mary Morrison; treasurer, Mrs. Owney Furman; flower chairman, Mrs. Susannah Horvath; assistant teacher, Mrs. Nelle Myers.

Refreshments of cup cakes, candy, nuts and coffee were served.

Others present besides those already mentioned were Mrs. Louis Gall Jr., Mrs. Steve Farrar, Mrs. Ora Staff, Miss Julia Williamson, Mrs. Carrie Wilson and Mrs. Pearl Thompson.

Albert Shires Honored With Birthday Party

Albert Shires was pleasantly surprised Thursday with a birthday dinner at his home near Waucon.

Present were the following relatives: Mrs. Ed Leek, Moody Shires, both of Muddy; Mrs. Ada Humble, Newark, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dayton, Brookville, Ohio; Mrs. Maud Harrison, Mrs. Kelly Murray, Raleigh, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Kincaide of Eldorado.

After a bountiful dinner the afternoon was spent in taking pictures and talking about old school days.

J. D. and Everett Shires, Miami, Fla., could not be present.

Mrs. Alex (Muriel) Cathcart, 1125 South McKinley, has been in the Barnes hospital in St. Louis, Mo., for the past week and will undergo surgery this week. Her room number is 8202.

Mrs. Claude Winters, who entered the tuberculosis sanatorium at Mt. Vernon Aug. 30 for observation and a rest, is still a patient there. For the past four weeks she has been suffering a leg infection. Her address is care of T. B. Sanatorium, Mt. Vernon, Ill.

Kit would open the hiding place because Peter knew of it, and Angelica was afraid he would have told Kit. She said she didn't dare take a chance on waiting any longer.

"What exactly did she want you to do?" Jim demanded.

"She wanted a way to get from The Spires quickly. I told you she was afraid to use the path she always took. She wanted me and she wanted my car. Angelica never learned to drive."

"You actually drove Angelica to The Spires?"

"Yes. I cut off my lights and coasted down that winding road.

I parked there at the wide place. You know, where that creek comes out of the hole in the cliff?"

"Lion's Head. Yes, I know."

"I parked there and Angelica went down to The Spires alone. I walked back part way up the hill, keeping a lookout as I promised I would. I had a whistle I was to blow if anyone came."

Dunn believed now her hesitance about talking. She was intensely loyal, would hate to divulge any information detrimental to a client.

"I waited and waited. I heard motors of cars going past on the plateau. I could see just a little, but it was a deceptive light, the light of false dawn I guess. Finally I went down to the basement. I — felt — knew something was wrong. I had my little flashlight. I found Angelica. She was dead. I got her out from under the elevator which was crushing down on her, but she was dead."

"But why come back to the Carsons?" he insisted.

"Where else could she go? She'd never made her own way and she didn't have the vaguest idea how to go about it. But actually, it was part of Angelica's bargain for the security of her husband's career that brought her back to the Carsons."

Jim nodded slowly. He had a sudden hunch that the side of Angelica which would follow such a "romantic" course was very important. It would fit in perfectly with the secret hiding place. And it would very possibly change the nature of the thing or things secreted.

"She asked you to come clear up from Denver to help her get something hidden so close at hand?"

"Yes. And that isn't so strange as it sounds. Angelica told me about The Spires being readied for some overflow guests. She didn't mind that, of course, but she did pay a visit to the hiding place. And she was frightened away."

Jim nodded. "I guess I did that. The night Nancy and I arrived."

Miss Wister shook her head. "Angelica told me what frightened her was that she was followed. You may have interrupted her, but she was frightened by being followed."

"She say who followed her?"

"No."

"That's where I threw it. Don't ask me why, but I was getting panicky. The furnace was warm. I remember that. The piece of pitch might have burned up."

Jim was careful to keep any opinion from showing on his face.

"Did Angelica tell you what it was she wanted to get at The Spires? What it was that was so important?"

"Yes," Miss Wister said. "She told me. It was her doll."

Jenner Charges War II GIs Fed Red Propaganda

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. William E. Jenner charged Sunday night that World War II GIs were fed the Communist Party line by the Army's own information and education program.

The Indiana Republican, chairman of the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, made the statement in a pamphlet released containing public testimony on the I&E program.

Jenner said every GI was subjected to the program and the Communist line "from the time they donned the Army uniform until they stowed it away in moth balls."

The Army program was "heavily loaded" with Communist propaganda, he said.

"The writing was done and the troops instructed, in many cases, by men who later used the Fifth Amendment as a protection against self-incrimination, to avoid revealing their Communist records."

One of those who relied on the Fifth Amendment, the senator said, was Lt. Col. Julius Schreiber, who was chief of the program section of the orientation branch of the I&E program. Jenner said Schreiber, now a Washington psychiatrist, refused to answer questions about Communist affiliations prior to January 1941.

Schreiber's testimony was included in the pamphlet released by Jenner.

Expedition Will Check Polar Region For Soviet Activity

NEW YORK (UPI) — A U. S. naval expedition going to the south polar regions next month for scientific purposes will also be sleuthing, on highest government orders, for evidence that Soviet Russia is using the Antarctic continent as a test ground for nuclear weapons and intercontinental missiles, Fortune magazine said today.

The magazine said the naval expedition, consisting solely of the icebreaker Atka, is making a reconnaissance preparatory to U. S. participation in research and exploration to be conducted by many nations in the year 1957-58. But it said two other considerations are more compelling than the purely scientific projects—one, the nation's interest in rights to the potentially rich natural resources of the continent, and two, "to find out what the Russians are up to in and around the south polar continent."

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

FOR

OF SALINE COUNTY

The people of Saline County are entitled to know my intentions in reference to the enforcement of the LIQUOR and GAMBLING LAWS of this county if elected your Sheriff.

1—I will not tolerate the illegal SALE OF BEER, WHISKEY or any other ALCOHOLIC LIQUORS within the Confines of Saline County.

2—I will not tolerate the operation of SLOT MACHINES or other illegal Gambling Devices within the Confines of Saline County.

3—I will personally make Investigations on My Own Initiative to determine if either of the above laws are being violated and will conduct raids and make arrests in order to enforce said laws.

LAYMAN JONES

REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

FOR

SHERIFF

A Message To The People Of Saline County Concerning . . .

Paul Spangler

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR County Treasurer

Four years ago we urged Paul Spangler to become a candidate for Sheriff upon a strict law enforcement platform.

Four years ago you elected Paul Spangler your Sheriff upon that platform.

In opposition to strong organizations and selfish individuals he set forth to carry out his platform and he stopped the illegal sale of liquor and gambling in this county.

Mr. Spangler's actions as sheriff of this county have been endorsed by many organizations and by individuals of both political parties interested in keeping our county a clean, decent place in which to live and rear our children.

Mr. Spangler is enforcing the law today as he did when he started. He is going out of office clean.

Mr. Spangler can not succeed himself as Sheriff and is now a candidate for County Treasurer. We feel that he is entitled to the support of the law abiding citizens of this county for the office of County Treasurer.

The election of Paul Spangler will be an incentive to all future officers of this county to do their duty. His defeat will offer an excuse for future officers to neglect their duties.

We recommend the election of Paul Spangler as County Treasurer upon his record.

Carmi Holds Three-Year Win Streak

On Its Home Field

CARMI, Ill.—Carmi's three-year winning streak on its home field is intact largely because of halfback Louie Mitchell's performance in a 20-19 homecoming win over Mount Carmel Friday night.

Mitchell scored two touchdowns in the last quarter as Carmi came from behind for their 12th straight home victory. Carmi has won 14 of its last 15 games, dropping this year's opener to Benton.

Mitchell carried the ball 29 of the 44 times Carmi had it, racking up 145 yards and his touchdowns came on a 10-yard run and 1-yard plunge. With the score 19-19, he ran for the extra point.

Mitchell has scored 74 points this year and gained 791 yards in 129 carries. He is a good broken-field runner and equally dangerous through the line.

The Doctor, to whom perfection was a fetish, set about fitting his new star into the Steelers' singling. One of Sutherland's most effective plays was the cutback through tackle in which the steps the carrier took were all important. So many out-cut—so many to reach the hole. No more, no less.

The first time Dudley tried it he broke through for a nice gain. But Sutherland wasn't satisfied.

"You're not making the right cut," the big Scot stormed.

Dudley tried again — gained again—but all he got from Jock was a glower.

On the third try, Bullet Bill went all the way, and trotted back feeling well pleased with himself, only to hear Sutherland repeat:

"You're not doing it right, Bill."

"Maybe I didn't, Doctor," Bill Dudley replied, "but how was it for distance?"

Coach Don Schroyer, a graduate of Milliken University at Decatur, came here as coach four years ago. Since then, his teams have won 22, lost 9 and tied 2 games.

His team this year is small but fast and blocks well when clearing the way for Mitchell.

At halftime the score was 0-0 and in the early part of the third quarter Southern continued to dominate play. The real turning point of the game came with Michigan Normal forced to punt and the punter momentarily fumbling the pass from center. With SIU linemen crowding in, it looked like a fine break for the home team. But the punter finally picked up the ball, broke into the clear and turned what looked like disaster into a 40 yard gain—and the game. From there on SIU wasn't in it. The final count was Michigan Normal 20, SIU 0.

There was a big crowd present, but the fans began to leave shortly after Normal scored and left in droves midway in the final frame, apparently not caring to watch SIU absorb the loss. That doesn't seem like good sportsmanship. After all, it is the players that are taking the loss and they cannot leave. The fans should stick it out too.

The homecoming parade was a dandy. Took about 90 minutes to pass and included some thirty high and grade school bands, plus the SIU band and many beautiful floats.

The Eldorado and Carrier Mills high school bands were in the line of march and did a fine job of representing the county. They were easily identified also, with flags or letter girls.

I have had the pleasure of watching the SIU homecoming parade several years now and have just one complaint—and it is nothing SIU can do to improve the situation.

Approximately one-third of the bands are not identified and many times they are outstanding, but the watchers have no way of knowing the school they are from and the school fails to get the recognition it deserves.

Maybe SIU could do something—when schools are invited to march it could be suggested that they make arrangements to identify themselves. I think it would be to the benefit of everyone.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON

For one half of a game Saturday afternoon I thought I was setting in one of the season's upsets.

Went over to Carbondale for SIU's homecoming and the football game had the winless Southern team facing undefeated Michigan Normal, with the visitors ranked as overwhelming favorites, maybe thirty points or more.

Southern started the game with plenty of pep, outplaying their highly ranked opponents in every phase of the game and missed a TD by just an eye lash, a play that probably had a lot to do with the final outcome. Southern had a pass receiver fairly well in the clear only steps from pay dirt, but the pass bounced off his outstretched fingertips and that may have been the game. A score there could easily have fired the SU boys to greater things.

At halftime the score was 0-0 and in the early part of the third quarter Southern continued to dominate play. The real turning point of the game came with Michigan Normal forced to punt and the punter momentarily fumbling the pass from center. Ohio State, UCLA, Army Show Power; Buckeyes Down Wisconsin, 31 to 14

By United Press

It's another Monday of headaches and hangovers today for several of the nation's highest-ranked football teams, but the beginning of another bright and shiny new week for those rapidly rising grid titans Ohio State, UCLA, and Army.

Those three were the biggest winners of an upset-ridden weekend that saw no less than 25 teams blasted from the perfect record list, including four members of the country's "top 10"—Wisconsin, Mississippi, Minnesota, and Colorado.

A total of 51 teams still are unbeaten and untied, including just nine major teams.

Ohio State came through with one of the weekend's most important triumphs by rising out of its No. 4 national ranking to upset second-ranked Wisconsin, 31-14, and move a long stride nearer a Rose Bowl berth.

Michigan had a 7-3 half-time lead but the Buckeyes took the lead on an 88-yard touchdown run and then smothered the Badgers with three touchdowns in the last period.

UCLA Rolls On

Third-ranked UCLA, which last week handed Stanford its worst beating in history, 72-0, followed up by handing Oregon State the worst beating in its history, 61-0, and moved a long stride nearer the other berth in the Rose Bowl.

The Bruins rolled up nine touchdowns, starting 2 1/2 minutes after the opening whistle.

Army, ranked ninth, gave Columbia one of the worst lickings in the Lions' history, 67-12, and thus improved strongly its chances in the race for the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern gridiron supremacy. Boston University, which led the Lambert balloting last week, was one of the major upset victims, bowing to Holy Cross, 14-13.

Mississippi, ranked fifth, was upended by Arkansas, 6-0, when the Razorbacks scored with three minutes to play on a 66-yard pass play from Buddy Benson to Preston Carpenter. The game was counted as a Southeastern Conference game for Mississippi, by special permission of the league to fill out the league's schedule, and the loss cost them their leadership of the league.

Minnesota, ranked sixth, was crushed by an aroused Michigan squad, 34-0, as injured Tony Branoff came off the bench to spark the Wolverine attack and score one TD. The stunning win catapulted Michigan into the Rose Bowl picture.

Horace Ritchey, state conservation officer, today reminded hunters of the hours for shooting migratory game birds.

Residents of Saline county purchased a total of $82,062 in Series E and H United States Savings bonds in the month of August 1954 according to figures received from the Treasury Department by Walter Bargman of Harrisburg, volunteer Savings Bonds chairman in the county.

In September sales in Illinois of E and H bonds represented 10.1 per cent of all sales in the nation. The grand total for the month was $38,087,447, an increase of 16 per cent over sales for September 1953, according to T. Merle Paul, state director of the Illinois' Savings Bonds Division. Sales of Series H bonds alone were $11,375,500 as compared to $6,061,500 in September of last year. In the first three quarters of 1954, 77.3 per cent of the annual quota has been reached. National sales of E and H bonds during the month were $366,582,843, and Illinois' sales which represented 10.1 per cent broke all records in the history of the sale of savings bonds with regard to percentage of national sales.

Voters to Select Choices for 5 County Offices on Nov. 2

Will Elect U. S. Senator, Two To State Offices

No Minor Parties Have Candidates On General Ballot

Saline county voters, when they go to the polls Tuesday, Nov. 2, will get the opportunity to name their Republican or Democratic choices for United States senator, state treasurer, state superintendent of public instruction and for University of Illinois trustees as well as for district and county posts.

The general ballot they will be handed has but two columns this year as none of the minor parties has candidates.

There are five county races which appear on the ballot as follows:

For County Clerk: Don B. Garrison D vs. Paul Hilliard R.

For County Judge: Trafton Dennis D vs. George B. Lee R.

For County Treasurer: Maynard Cannon D vs. Paul Spangler R.

For Sheriff: William T. "Wee" Barrett D vs. Layman Jones R.

For County Superintendent of Schools: C. Raymond "Pete" Gardner D vs. R. Dale Wilson R.

Incumbent Representatives

In this lineup there are two incumbents, Garrison for county clerk and Wilson for school superintendent. Hilliard is now treasurer and Spangler is now sheriff, offices to which the state law prohibits their succeeding themselves.

Lee, Cannon, Jones and Gardner have not held public office before. Dennis is a former state's attorney and Barrett served a term on the Saline County Board of Supervisors.

There is no race for state representative as three, Paul Powell D of Vienna, Gordon E. Kerr R of Brookport and W. O. Verhines R of Vienna, all incumbents, are running for re-election with three posts to be filled. However, all are seeking to pile up large votes in the 51st senatorial district.

There is one big 51st district race, however, in which a Saline county candidate seeks to become state senator. He is Glen O. Jones R of Raleigh, present state's attorney who is running against Ed Merchant D of Vienna.

Greatest Race for Senate

There also is a race for congress in the 25th congressional district between C. W. "Run" Bishop R, incumbent from Carterville, and Kenneth J. Gray of West Frankfort.

In the biggest of the statewide races, Joseph T. Meek R is seeking to wrest the United States senatorship from Paul H. Douglas D.

The other statewide contests:

State Treasurer: David F. Mallett D vs. Warren E. Wright R.

State Superintendent of Public Instruction: Mark A. Peterman D vs. Vernon L. Nickell R.

For Trustees of the University of Illinois (elect three): Frances Best Watkins D, George Wirt Herk D, Kenney E. Williamson D.

Vernon L. Heath R, Dr. Ralph H. Kinstadter R, Maurice Gantzert R.

To Elect 153 Representatives To Legislature

SPRINGFIELD UP—There will be 153 state representatives elected Nov. 2 but control of only 26 contested seats will determine whether the House is Republican or Democratic.

The GOP is already assured of winning 65 seats in the House and the Democrats are sure of winning 62. Democrats need 15 of the remaining 26 seats for control, the Republicans need 12.

Actually, there are no contests for representative in 27 of the state's 51 legislative districts. Each district elects three representatives and thus 81 candidates are already elected by name.

In all but two of the remaining 24 districts, each party is certain to win at least one seat, since there are only four candidates, two from each party.

Thirty-four representatives from the 1953 Legislature are not candidates for re-election because of death, retirement, primary defeat or bids for other offices. These include half a dozen committee chairmen, all Republicans.

House Speaker Warren L. Wood (R-Plainfield), Majority Leader Franklin U. Stransky (R-Savanna), Minority Leader Paul Powell (D-Vienna) and Minority Whip James J. Ryan (D-Chicago) are all running in districts without contests.

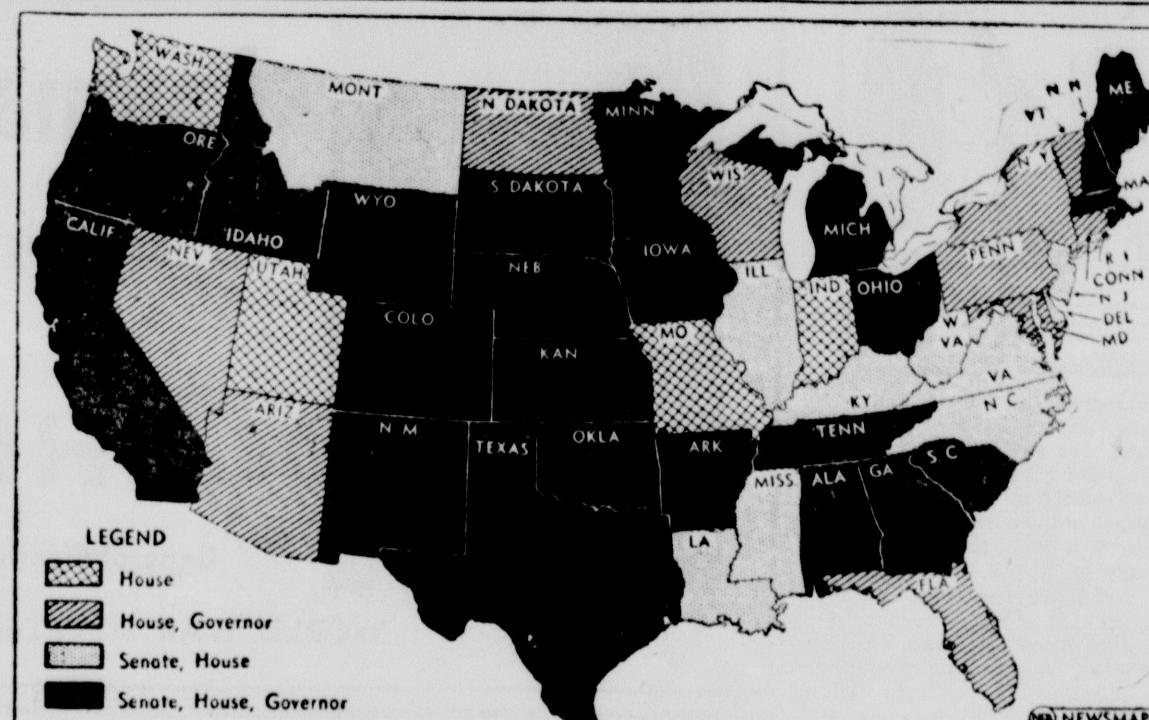

Lewis Faces Fight

Only Majority Whip John W. Lewis Jr. (R-Marshall), among House leaders, has opposition. Lewis is running in the 34th District composed of Coles and Douglas counties.

The 69th General Assembly to be elected may be one of the most important in the history of Illinois. If the voters Nov. 2 pass the amendment to reapportion the legislative districts, this Legislature will have the job of drawing up the new districts.

HOW OFF-YEAR ELECTION SHAPES UP—Above Newsmap shows what type of election each state in the U. S. will hold in November. Every state will elect members to the House of Representatives, 34 will elect senators and 33 will elect governors. A court case is pending in Nevada, to decide whether to hold an election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Democratic Sen. Pat McCarran, who had two years left in office.

Douglas-Meek Match is Battle Both GOP, Demos Want to Win

CHICAGO UP — Pick the one who was seated on the speaker's platform. Subsequently, Meek wrote the President endorsing his program. Then Mr. Eisenhower invited Meek to Indianapolis to hear his farm policy speech. The two shook hands for photographers.

The contrast between Meek and Douglas is striking.

Meek, 59, is a stocky man of 5-foot 7-inches with huge shoulders, a jovial, easy manner. He has never run for public office before.

For 20 years he has headed a federation of retail associations in Illinois and come to know personally most of its 60,000 small businessmen members. Representing the organization has taken him often to Washington.

Meek is a staunch free enterprise Republican who says "I hate government in everything not adequately defined by our constitution." He has said he would follow President Eisenhower's policies but not "blindly." He won the nomination over eight other GOP candidates.

Douglas, 62, is tall and slightly stooped with a thatch of white hair. One of the most prominent

Sen. Paul H. Douglas

Democrats in Congress and still a presidential possibility, he was first elected to office in 1938 as Chicago alderman.

Three years later he enlisted as a private in the Marine Corps. He was wounded twice, won the Bronze Star for bravery on Peleliu and was discharged a lieutenant colonel. He has taught economics in a number of colleges.

Although strong on economy measures, Douglas believes it is the government's duty to serve as an economic guardian of the people.

Blue Ballot Contains Three Amendments

Legislative Remap Plan Opposed by Many Downstaters

In addition to the ballot containing the names of the candidates, voters will be handed a "Blue Ballot" at the polls which contains three proposed state Constitutional amendments, the one getting the most attention being one to re-apportion the state to give Cook county control of the state house of representatives.

The others pertain to (a) changing the length of the state treasurer from two to four years and (b) to canals and waterways.

But the big noise is being made on the legislative apportionment amendment proposal, which is being pushed strongly by Cook county forces and is being opposed by many downstaters as being a measure that will give control of the state to one county—Cook.

Changes in Amendment

The amendment would direct the General Assembly to redistrict the state for the purpose of electing one state senator for each of 38 senatorial districts and three representatives from each of 59 representative districts.

At present there are 51 uniform senatorial districts, from which both senators and representatives are elected.

As concerns the senate, area would be the "prime consideration" in the formation of the 38 districts. Downstate would get 34 of these districts and Cook county 24.

The house of representatives' 59 districts would be based on population, except that in the redistricting prior to the 1960 census, downstate would get 29 districts and Cook county 30. The three representatives from each district would be elected by cumulative voting, as at present.

Should the General Assembly fail to redistrict as directed, the amendment provides that the duty would fall on a commission appointed by the governor. The state central committees of the two major parties would each submit a list of ten nominees to the governor, who would appoint five from each list, making a 10-member commission.

Would Elect at Large

Then should the commission fail to redistrict, senators coming up at the next election and all representatives would be elected from the state at large. If the resulting General Assembly still failed to redistrict a new commission would be appointed as before and should this second commission fail to redistrict, legislators would again be elected at large—and so forth until a valid redistricting is secured.

Opponents of this amendment declare that under these provisions, Cook county could easily be controlling both the house and senate because if the General Assembly and commission failed to redistrict, which is wholly probable, Cook county could get control at an election held at large.

They also say that with the house of representatives controlling the state's purse strings, Cook county undoubtedly will get larger shares of school and road money, with downstate getting less, even if Cook county control remains just with the house.

Election Night Returns Big Task For Newsmen

NEW YORK UP—Across America at nightfall on Nov. 2, the tiny noises of some 40 million voters recording their decision—the scratch of ballot pencil and click of machine lever—will cease and the silence will resolve itself into a question.

It is the one big question that plagues America, and much of the free world that looks to America, every two years on election night.

Who won?

"Hey, Joe," the reporter asks the clerk at election headquarters behind the cigar store, "who won?"

And in thousands of precincts the question is echoed, the answer given in small figures that add up to the big answer.

By daylight the next day, the voter knows most of the answer. By noon, he will know for sure who won. His newspaper, his radio, his television will tell him.

Who provides this answer, within 12 to 18 hours after the polls close? Who tabs the nation's political pulse, who adds up the small figures from 150,000 polling places, who assesses the meaning of the vote after pulling it together from across the country?

Newsmen Do the Job

If you asked the man in the street—the man whose pocketbook and job might be affected by the outcome—he probably would tell you the answer is furnished by a vague entity he calls "the government."

He couldn't be more wrong. The coverage of a national election is a miracle of private enterprise, a modern miracle of communications, planning, painstaking tabulation, and the sweat of thousands of toiling newsmen.

The great press associations alone are equipped to collect, tabulate and disseminate the results on a national scale. Only they have the communications, the far-flung organization, and the trained manpower. All other news media look to the press associations for the national returns that spell party victory or defeat.

The United Press will have 6,000 editorial workers laboring through election night. It will use 350,000 miles of leased wires over which the vote will pour in, and from which the newspapers, radio, and TV will get the national facts and figures that are passed to the waiting public. The cost of this one-night operation by the United Press in getting the answer to the big question is around $100,000.

Larger Cities Lose In Parking Race

CHICAGO — IP — Cities with more than 50,000 population expanded their parking areas in 1953 but failed to keep pace with the increase in automobiles, a study shows.

But cities from 10,000 to 50,000 population fared better. They had a median of 55 spaces for each 1,000 vehicles, compared with 49 spaces per 1,000 the year before.

The study was made by the International City Managers' Association, which gathered information on traffic and parking from 892 cities.

The four cities with the greatest number of parking spaces per 1,000 vehicles were Miami Beach, Fla., with 580; Roseville, Mich., 396; Shaker Heights, O., 365, and Attribor, Mich., 308.

Of the 892 reporting cities, 534 own or operate one or more off-street parking lots. Their total was 1,747 lots, an average of three per city. This was a 19 per cent increase over 1952 in the number of lots and a 7 per cent jump in the number of cities with such lots.

All Congressmen In Illinois Seek Re-Election

Five Republicans Are Chairmen of House Committees

SPRINGFIELD IP — All 25 Illinois congressmen seek reelection Nov. 2, including six who held key posts in the 83rd Congress.

Five Republicans who are House committee chairmen and the GOP House whip are among the candidates for new terms.

Should the Democrats be successful in their fight to capture control of the House, they would take over the chairmanships of all its committees.

Of the 16 Republicans and nine Democrats seeking reelection from Illinois, only one has no foe Nov. 2—Republican Leo E. Allen, Galena.

Allen, 56, chairman of the key House Rules Committee, thus is assured of his 12th straight two-year term in Congress.

GOP Whip Leslie C. Arends, 59-year-old Melvin banker and farmer, is being challenged on the issue of farm policy in downstate's 17th District by Democrat Branson Wright, a Bloomington lawyer.

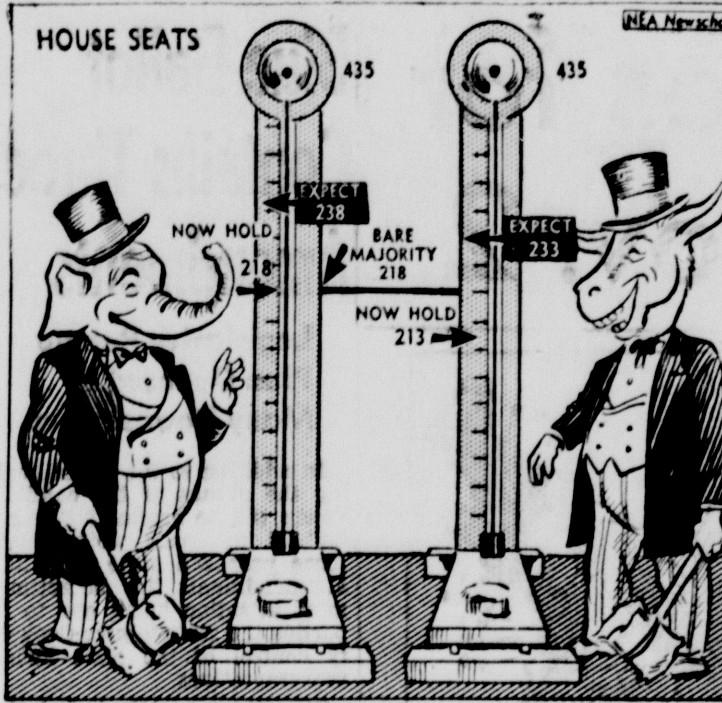

Wright attacks the administration for not maintaining rigid price supports and charges the GOP is "sniping away" at benefits the farmers got during two decades of Democratic control of government.

Arends counters that rigid supports are to blame for surpluses that have "crushed the market" so farmers haven't received support prices. He argues that flexible supports will boost the farmer's income by permitting bigger production.

Velde vs. Beeney
Rep. Harold H. Velde, Peoria, 44-year-old former FBI agent who heads the House Un-American Activities Committee, is waging a fight for reelection against Howard S. Beeney, Peoria.

Beeney is Democratic chairman of Peoria County, the biggest county in Velde's 18th District. He has a formidable foe in Velde, who whipped a labor-backed primary election for almost 2 to 1 last April.

Rep. Robert B. Chipperfield, 64, Canton Republican who is chair-

MUSCLE FLEXING EXERCISE—Democratic donkey and Republican elephant line up at the strength barometer to see how many House of Representative seats each will get in the coming November election. The optimistic elephant now holds 218 of the 435 House seats, claims it has a good chance of picking up 20 more for a total of 238 seats. The donkey now holds 213 seats, also expects to pick up 20 seats, giving it a total of 233. The present number of House seats doesn't add up to 435 on the chart because there is one independent and three vacancies.

man of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, is paired against a Quad-City Democrat, John M. Kerwin Jr., East Moline. Chipperfield seeks his eighth straight term in Washington.

Kerwin, a lawyer and former Office of Price Stabilization official, ran against Chipperfield four years ago and lost 69,379 to 48,286.

Other GOP committee chairmen running for new terms are West Chicago's Chauncey W. Reed, who heads the Judiciary Committee, and Carrollton's Sid Simpson, chairman of the District of Columbia Committee.

Democrat Richard Plum, Warrenton, opposes Reed and James A. Barry, Quincy, is Simpson's foe.

A downstate drawing wide attention is the 21st District fight between Democratic Rep. Peter F. Mack Jr. and Edward H. Jenison, Republican who Mack unseated in 1952 despite the Eisenhower landslide.

Mack and Jenison were sitting congressmen from different districts in 1951 when the Legislature reapportioned the state and threw them into the same district. It stretches from the Indiana border almost to the Mississippi River and is shaped like a wide letter "N."

Jenison, a Paris newspaper editor, lost to his Carlinville foe 94,026 to 85,248 two years ago. Key to the outcome was an 8,010 plurality Mack rolled up in Sangamon County, which includes Springfield. Idle Tests Vursell
A little farther south, former

FBI man Albert R. Imle, Hillsboro Democrat, is opposing Republican Rep. Charles W. Vursell, Salem. Vursell, an ex-publisher, has served in Congress since 1943.

Rep. C. W. (Runt) Bishop, 64-year-old Carterville Republican who has represented his southern Illinois area since 1941, is up against West Frankfort Democrat Kenneth Gray.

Gray had help from Tennessee Gov. Frank G. Clement, who said in a speech at West Frankfort last week he knew of no district where the congressman had "a reputation of doing less" than Bishop's.

The only downstate Democrat now in Congress beside Mack is Charles M. Price, East St. Louis, running for his sixth term. Trying to defeat him is former GOP State Sen. John T. Thomas, Belleville.

Two women seek election to Congress from Illinois, one from each party. Best known is Mrs. Marguerite Stitt Church, Evanston Republican who succeeded her husband as U. S. representative after his death in 1950. Her Democratic election foe is Richard A. Griffin, Libertyville.

In Chicago's suburban 10th District, Democrat Helen J. Kelleher, Oak Park, opposes GOP incumbent Richard W. Hoffman, Riverside.

Rep. Robert B. Chipperfield, 64, Canton Republican who is chair-

Alben W. Barkley

which is the basis for economic security for the Kentucky farmer. Ex-Vice is Aging

Cooper exhibits photostatic copies of the Congressional Record to show that he introduced the 1948 farm bill amendment which is the present tobacco price support law. Barkley retorts that the bill actually was written by former Democratic Rep. Virgil Chapman and argues the amendment was merely an extension of Democratic policy going back to 1938.

Another issue, seldom mentioned but always present, is Barkley's age. He will be 77 in November and some voters are sure to think that, whatever his present vigor, he'll be too old to represent the state by 1960.

Neutral opinion seems to be leaning toward a Barkley victory, mostly on the basis that the Democrats can win any Kentucky election by 20,000 to 30,000 votes provided the candidate is reasonably popular and the party is not split. But Cooper has pulled upsets before.

Carpentier Reminds Election Judges
Of Blue Ballot Rules

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Secretary of State Charles F. Carpentier today reminded Illinois voters of election law provisions on the "Blue Ballot" constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 2.

Carpentier said one provision is that the Blue Ballot must be placed on top of other ballots when they are handed to the voter, in such a way that the printed instructions are plainly visible.

Another is that the voter must return the Blue Ballot to the election judge with the other ballots—whether he voted on the constitutional issues or not.

Carpentier said the election judge may not accept any ballots from the voter unless the voter presents all of them.

The amendments would redistribute the Legislature, increase the state treasurer's term from two years to four, and allow the sale or lease of the Illinois-Michigan Canal.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas

U. S. Senator from Illinois

- You have met and heard Paul Douglas. He has been in this area many times keeping contact with his people. He has their interest at heart.

- Paul Douglas has been called the "Number One" Senator by a National magazine. He could have earned that title only by demonstrating unusual ability and initiative as a Senator and Statesman.

- Paul Douglas has been a fighter for the things he believes are right. He carries the wounds of a Marine veteran of the Pacific campaign, in which he rose from the ranks of enlisted men to become an officer on the battlefields.

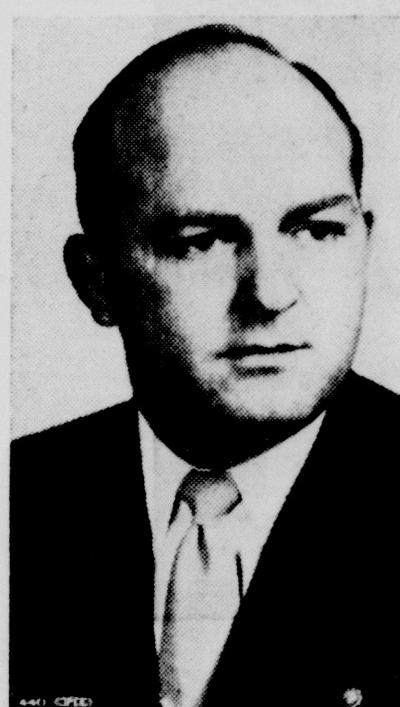

- Paul Douglas knows the needs of the people of Southern Illinois. He has visited with them and talked with them face to face.

- Paul Douglas has shown his independence as a statesman. He has "gone along" with the President of the United States when the President was a Democrat, and with the current Republican President when he believed they were right—but he has not hesitated to oppose their views on legislation when he did not think it was in the best interest of the people of Illinois.

- Paul Douglas has always been a firm friend and supporter of the REA program, even in the face of occasional opposition from other legislators of Illinois.

- Paul Douglas will continue to work for the best things for his people and the United States as a whole if he is returned to the U. S. Senate.
